

Copyright International Film Service.
BOMBPROOFSON THE FIGHTING MASTS OF THE U. S. S. ARIZONA IS THE LATEST NAVAL WRINKLE

THE BURDEN BEARERS—A FAMILIAR SIGHT IN FACTORY-LINED STREETS

MOURNERS AT THE FUNERAL OF ONE OF CHINATOWN'S LEADING MERCHANTS
 Only a few of the old-time Celestials were in the funeral procession which followed the body of Jung Jo to the grave yesterday. The queuelless Westernized Chinaman is fast replacing those of the old school.

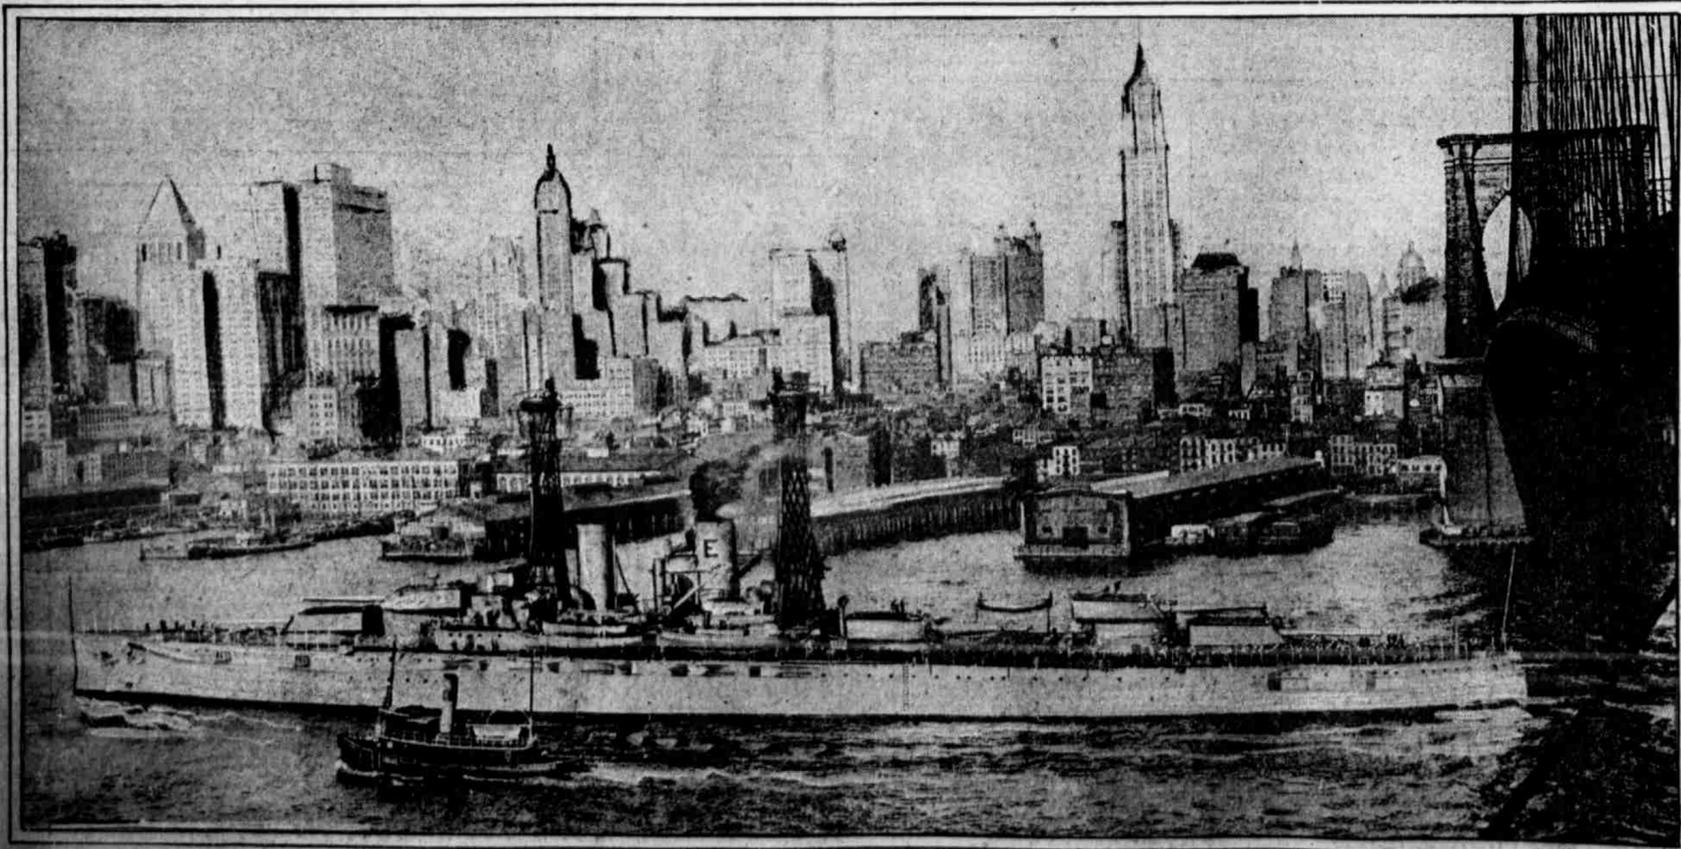

GERMANY'S ROYAL FAMILY WAITS ON WOUNDED SOLDIERS

Princess Marie and Princess Juliane of Germany are officiating at a little party given to a number of young soldiers who have completely recovered from their wounds and are ready to return to the front. There is not an old face among those in the picture, and most of the soldiers are mere youths.

Photo from Underwood & Underwood.
LIGHT-GIVERS TO THOSE BLINDED IN BATTLE
 At the extreme left is Miss Esther Cleveland. Next to her is Miss Winifred Holt, and at the right Miss Bernhard Grant, as they appear at the now famous "Phare," in France.

WHAT A GIANT SEA FIGHTER LOOKS LIKE UNDER THE SHADOW OF NEW YORK'S SKYSCRAPERS

This latest view of New York's skyline shows the U. S. S. New York steaming down the East River on its way to speed trials at Hampton Roads. The photograph, taken from the Brooklyn side of the Brooklyn Bridge, shows, at the extreme left, the Bankers' Trust Building, then the new Equitable Life Building, the Singer Building, the Park Row Building, the Woolworth Building, and at the extreme right the New York World Building.

EVER MEET HIM?
 He is George F. Holmes, chairman of the Philadelphia County Commissioners.

Copyright Underwood & Underwood.